Alice Lopes, Minas Gerais, Brazil
DIPLOMA, MEDIA COMMUNICATIONS

I completed my Bachelor's in Library and Information Sciences and my Master's degree in Marketing in Brazil. Despite having a well-established career, gaining some international experience is something that I have always wanted, and that's why I decided to come to Toronto.

I choose Humber College based on the curriculum and networking opportunities the Diploma in Media Communications offers. During the program, I've learned how to produce and edit photos and videos and develop graphic design pieces as well.

As a student, I applied for an international ambassador position at Humber College. As an ambassador, I created original content for the Humber International Centre; this content included a series of informative videos to help students with their studies at Humber and tips about life in Toronto. I also worked for Humber Athletics, where I covered live stream games and produced a weekly report as a host, video maker and editor.

During the last semester of my program, I secured an internship at the Canadian Broadcast TV Global News. There, I was trained by producers, reporters, news librarians and editors, and by the end of my internship, I got hired as a news librarian.

Toronto is a great city to be in. There are so many shows, festivals and events that are always happening. The same can be said for the comedy scene and sports. I also recommend going to Chinatown on Spadina Avenue and checking out the great food markets there.

Sang Wan Kim, Incheon, South Korea DIPLOMA, BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

Back in 2011, I finished my English academic pathway and decided to apply for the Business Management Diploma at Humber College. During my time at Humber, my professors encouraged me to share my ideas, express my opinions, and never hesitated on providing additional help. The program is very broad and includes Business Law, Microeconomics, and Financial Accounting, that despite being difficult, ended up being one of my favorite classes.

Ashuni Patel, Vadodara, India BACHELOR, INDUSTRIAL DESIGN

The hands-on skills, the connections and partnerships Humber has with the industry is one of the highlights of the Bachelor of Industrial Design program. At the end of the program, Humber hosts a thesis show and over 100 industry professionals attend the event. Students have the chance to network and show their work, which includes our final project. I was recently hired at Canadian Tire as part of the product development team as an intern. I found this job via LinkedIn and presented my portfolio using the projects I created at Humber.

The EAP program improved my writing and speaking and now I feel more confident when communicating with others. The teachers also taught us about global current affairs, Canadian society, culture, and business as well. Besides developing my skills in English, now I have better presentation skills and learned how to use the APA style, which will be very helpful once I start my diploma in Business Management at Humber.

ONTARIO GRADUATE CERTIFICATE, INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY SOLUTIONS

I currently work as an IT Solution Developer at TD Bank. My program at Humber allowed me to improve my experience and knowledge of open source technologies and apply my skills to existing business challenges in the workforce. I've received 7 Spotlight Awards and 1 Starlight Award since graduating. Humber's teaching approach and topics is unique because it incorporates a balance of hands-on, theoretical knowledge and business communication skills, whereas back in Russia it was purely theoretical.

WORK-INTEGRATED LEARNING

In addition to academic classroom study, you also have the opportunity to work with professionals in your field and gain real-world experience through work-integrated learning. Depending on your program, your options can include field placements, co-ops, internships, or collaborating with Humber faculty and industry partners on applied research projects.

These hands-on and direct work experiences help bridge the gap between classroom and industry and prepare you with invaluable job experience before you graduate.

In today's rapidly shifting international economy, this is a critical head start that gives you the skills and competencies that employers immediately recognize and value. These opportunities also empower you to think critically, solve problems, and become a leader of change as you start your career.

Liza Korotka, Odessa, Ukraine

BACHELOR OF FILM AND MEDIA PRODUCTION

From a very early age, I knew I wanted to pursue a career in the film or TV industry. Once I graduated from high school, my parents and I started looking for colleges all over the world; we chose Canada because of its well-established film industry in the country. I was also attracted by the variety of practical and theoretical courses Humber has and the great reviews I found online from other Humber media students.

As soon as the classes started, I was sure this was the right program for me. The professors have a lot of experience and are very inspiring as well. I learned step by step of film-making: from pre-production to post-production. I also developed other skills, such as critical thinking and time management.

During my time at Humber, I completed a variety of assignments and projects. The one I am the proudest of is my documentary "My Country is Missing" which is a short film about the current events in my country, Ukraine. The documentary was very well received by critics and screened at various international film festivals including JAYU Human Rights Film Festival, Berlin Lift-Off Film Festival, and California Film Awards.

DIPLOMA, MEDIA COMMUNICATIONS

I took part in the Summer Abroad Exchange program and went to Parul University in Gujarat, India for one month during the summer. My trip abroad proved to me that outside of our small bubbles that we are enclosed in, there are far greater experiences to live through and journeys to embark.

My experience in India allowed me to gain a lot of knowledge about Indian culture and society. It shaped me to think differently and live more positively. I explored sites including the Taj Mahal, the Laxmi Vilas Palace, Sursagar Lake and Mahatma Gandhi's home.

Dominika Szpunar, Rzeszow, Poland

BACHELOR OF INTERIOR DESIGN

I have always been a creative type, and Humber's Bachelor of Interior Design balances both creativity and technique – that's how I knew this program was the right fit for me.

My professors taught me how to channel my ideas and transform a project from conceptual to a functional design. Besides learning all the essential technical skills, the assignments and tasks involved logical thinking, creative problem-solving, and documenting large-scale projects from the concept to construction documentation. Now I am working as a junior designer in a Toronto-based architectural firm. My next goal is to become a fully certified interior designer and work on different commercial projects, like community and art centers, for instance.

Hannah Lamberte, Cebu, Philippines

DIPLOMA, FUNERAL DIRECTOR CLASS 1 (EMBALMING)

My experience at Humber has been great so far. I've been to several Humber trips and made a lot of new friends. I've gone to the ski trip and the fall camping trip at Algonquin Park where I saw the colours of the leaves changing. I also attended the International Centre's Christmas dinner and it was a good opportunity to bond with the friends that I have made. I also became involved in a lot of co-curricular activities; I became an orientation leader, a First-Year Experience mentor, and an international student ambassador. I found out about these opportunities through the career centre and the student life centre. The connections I have made and the skills that I have developed at Humber are of immense value to me and I am grateful for that.

Sukhrab Ayupov, Almaty, Kazakhstan

BACHELOR OF COMMERCE, FINANCE

One of the reasons I applied at Humber College is because the institution is part of the CFA Institute University Affiliation Program. During this time, I've been working toward becoming a CFA Charter holder. In my final year, I received the CFA Scholarship; upon graduation, I passed the CFA Level 1 exam, and I am currently working towards CFA Level 2. While studying at Humber, I had great professors who helped me to develop problem-solving skills, taught me how to evaluate strengths and limitations, and how to work on complex projects and assignments in a team-based environment. One of the best moments as a student, was when my friend and I became co-presidents of Humber Finance Association. This opportunity helped us to meet and interact with other students and provided us with a chance to connect with the industry professionals from companies such as TMX Group, UBS, Deloitte and Ellis Don.

Upon graduation, I joined the TMX Group as an Administrator of Client Support Services. In September, I will be joining the Associate Rotational Program at TMX Group, which will be a great learning experience because it will strengthen my understanding of the Canadian Capital Market.
