Quality Teaching

With a campus of 6,000 full-time students, teaching quality is at the heart of everything we do. A testament to this is the fact that the University of Bolton has been awarded 5th in the UK for teaching quality. Passionate lecturers dedicate themselves to ensure that their teaching is both current and supportive. We are teaching intensive, research informed, which means the industry knowledge our lecturers have, you will enjoy, giving you the chance to excel in your area of study. You will also receive support from personal tutors, peer-assisted study and online resources.

“Tutors are always available to support and encourage us to do our best.”

Julie Ashwood

Student | Early Years & Childhood Studies

“Given the smaller than average class sizes, I get the opportunity to provide a bespoke and very practical experience in my teaching. I enjoy being able to hone those crucial skills that are required for all students when they move into employment, and I love that when a student graduates, I know their back story, and how hard they have worked to accomplish their degree. From a lecturer’s perspective, there is no better feeling than seeing your students succeed.”

Zaman Kala

Lecturer | LLB Law

“Working on live briefs with clients is an excellent way to develop both as a designer and a person. It allows you to prepare for industry, as well as gain in confidence by working alongside a client. I think this is fundamental to developing as a designer and I am grateful to have had this opportunity, so early in my career.”

A photograph of four students sitting in a row, looking out a window. The students are diverse in age and appearance. The student on the far left is a Black woman with long dreadlocks, wearing glasses and a grey cap. Next to her is a woman with long brown hair, wearing a patterned shirt. Then a woman with long brown hair, wearing a dark jacket. On the far right is a young man with dark hair, wearing a dark jacket. They are all looking out a window that shows a blurred view of trees and buildings outside. A large, semi-transparent purple speech bubble is overlaid on the lower left of the image, containing a quote.

“It’s an amazing environment, so welcoming in every way. We have so much support from technical and lecturing staff. There is always someone around to help. I love studying here.”

“I am currently studying a qualification in customer service and am hoping to progress onto a business admin qualification as well. Alliance Learning (ConnectED) fitted my traits to a job that was right for me by finding out about me personally, before I went to any interviews. They also provided me with more than the necessary skills to succeed in every step of the application.”
