Welcome from the Managing Director of the Students' Association.

On behalf of the whole of the BPP University Students' Association Team, I would like to extend a warm welcome to all new and returning students. I hope your time at BPP University will be both rewarding and successful.

The Students' Association is here to help you make the most of your student experience and consists of several parts.

The student voice is key to ensuring that your views and opinions are heard across the University. My team and I work closely with the President and annually elected Student Voice Representatives who act as an independent voice for students on all academic committees and school boards, to ensure a positive experience for everyone during their time at BPP University.

The Independent Advisers are here to help you if things don't go to plan. They provide an impartial, confidential service which is independent from the University and can help with academic and welfare issues such as appeals, complaints and wellbeing.

The Student Engagement Team works closely with student-run clubs and societies across all centres and online to help offer a number of exciting opportunities for you to socialise, as well as to develop skills that will assist you with life in practice.

Make sure you visit bppstudents.com for more information and to join our vibrant student community on the Virtual Campus.

You can also join us on Facebook @BPPStudentsAssociation and follow us on Twitter @BPPStudents.

I wish you all the best during your time at BPP University and look forward to meeting each of you soon.

BPP Students' Association

Covid-19:

A message from the University's Deputy Vice-Chancellor to all new students.

You will be aware that the world has been significantly affected by the Covid-19 pandemic and I wanted to assure all new students that whilst your experience as a BPP student may be different than you previously expected it to be, it will still be great!

We continue to be guided by two key priorities:

- The safety and security of all our students and staff
- Enabling students to continue to progress through their studies, where possible

These priorities have underpinned our approach to all the adjustments we have made in response to the pandemic. I am delighted that we have been successful in achieving both and I am especially pleased that we have minimised any academic disadvantage during this period.

Since March, when lockdown happened, all of our teaching and assessments have been online and this remains our approach until it is safe to return to face-to-face. We continue to work closely with the Students' Association as we plan for centres reopening and teaching and assessments to return to a new 'normal', once government guidance permits.

At BPP University we have always viewed our students as partners and in these unprecedented times I am pleased to be working very closely with the Students' Association to continually prioritise our students in all University decisions.

You need not worry as we will guide and support you with clear, detailed information that you will find on your VLE/The Hub and in our FAQs on the bpp.com website.

I would like to reassure you that the University will continue to prioritise your personal and academic wellbeing.

Best wishes

Professor Sally-Ann Burnett
Deputy Vice-Chancellor

Student Records.

The Student Records Team in Registry works with faculty staff to ensure that the University collects and stores accurate personal data about students, programme and module data and any changes in students' registrations'.

Registration

Students are registered onto their programme once the Student Records Team receives all the requested documents. If we do not have all the required documents then you will be temporarily registered. You will need to provide any outstanding documents to us as soon as possible to complete the process and ensure you become fully registered.

How will temporary registration affect me?

Temporarily registered students have all the same rights and privileges as a fully registered student but cannot borrow books from our Library Service, receive a Council Tax Exemption letter (for full-time students) or Student ID card.

Keeping your details up to date

If any of your details change during your time at BPP University (such as a change of name, address, phone number, email address, or emergency contact) then please inform us by submitting your changes on the Query Form via your VLE/The Hub.

When will I get my Student ID card?

As part of the registration process you need to submit a clear front facing passport style photo which we can use to create your ID card. Your Student ID card will be emailed to you once you have submitted all the required documents and we have registered you. You will receive this at the same time as your registration confirmation letter. If you have not received your ID card two weeks from the start of your course then please submit a query on the Query Form via the VLE. Please note that temporarily registered students will not be eligible for an ID card.

What is my Student Reference Number (SRN)?

Your SRN appears on your Student ID card; it must be cited on all correspondence within BPP University and any assessments you complete.

We advise that you try and memorise your SRN as soon as you can.

How do I get a Student Status Letter, a Bank Account letter or a Council Tax letter?

Please submit your request the Query Form via your VLE/The Hub and you will receive a letter to your BPP email address. The Student Status and Bank Account letters are generated automatically and you receive these almost immediately.

As not all students are eligible to receive a discount on their Council Tax, this letter is not generated automatically as we have to check your programme of study.

Queries about the Student Loans Company (SLC)

If you have any queries regarding the Student Loans Company, such as attendance confirmations, changes of circumstances etc., please contact us on the Query Form via your VLE/The Hub with your questions and we will be able to provide you with advice and guidance.

Timetables and grouping.

Where can I find my timetable?

Your timetable will be accessible via your Office 365 account. The teaching activities will be visible as appointments in your calendar. Guidance on how to access your timetable via all devices will be provided on the VLE/The Hub.

What if I am having trouble understanding my timetable?

If you have difficulty in understanding your timetable, you should contact either your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer who will be able to help you.

If you are a Solicitor or Paralegal Apprentice, your first port of call will be your Apprenticeship Manager who will be able to help you.

If you are an apprentice in the Business School or the School of Technology, your first point of call will be your Skills Development Coach. Any administrative queries should be logged through the Query Form on your VLE/The Hub.

What if I want to change my group or the classes that I attend?

You should only attend the classes you are timetabled for and, as a general rule, changing class is prohibited unless there is a compelling reason (e.g. regular medical appointments, childcare commitments or requirements of religious observance). These reasons do not include personal preferences or work commitments and will need to be evidenced. Unfortunately, it may not always be possible to accommodate your requirements. Please note that you cannot attend a different class without permission.

What if I am working while I am studying and it conflicts with my timetable?

If you have registered as a full-time student, you will be expected to attend lectures, workshops and seminars on a full-time basis during a normal working week (Monday-Friday, 9.00am-6.00pm). While we understand that many students have to work part-time, such employment should not interfere with your studies during these hours.

Online access and the Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) or The Hub.

Wireless internet access is available throughout our Libraries and study centres providing you with convenient access. The VLE/The Hub is available at any time, from anywhere in the world.

VLE/The Hub

Depending on your programme, you will be given access to the VLE or The Hub. This should be your first port of call for any information whilst you are at BPP. Much of the information within this document is contained within your VLE/The Hub.

Teaching styles at BPP University.

Our tutors use a range of different approaches to teaching and learning to deliver BPP University's programmes of study.

What is a lecture?

A lecture is an educational talk delivered to an audience; in this context, a group of students.

Lectures may be face to face, online or both. Generally lectures are associated with larger groups of students, but the exact size of the group will vary according to your location. For most programmes you will find your lectures are pre-recorded and on our VLE/The Hub, but you may also have face-to-face lectures, and for some programmes all lectures are face to face.

Lectures are not designed to act as a substitute for private study or to give completely comprehensive coverage of a particular topic. They may, however, be your introduction to a subject and should act as a map to a particular topic, and facilitate your subsequent, deeper understanding. You can expect the lecturer to use software such as PowerPoint and/or written material, such as flow charts, in their presentation. If you attend live face-to-face lectures you may be asked questions and will be given the opportunity to ask questions yourself.

To make the most of your lecture experience you are encouraged to engage in discussion where appropriate with the tutor or lecturer and, in many cases, with your fellow students. However, you are also expected to be courteous to everyone else present by, for example, keeping your mobile phone on 'silent' and not talking over others. Lectures have several goals:

- To provide you with an introduction to a particular topic
- To set a subject in its context, for example, why a particular principle was developed
- To provide an overview of a topic
- To explain complex or difficult aspects of a topic
- To introduce you to comparative aspects of a topic
- To help you prepare for assessment

How to prepare for a lecture

It is very important that you prepare for a lecture in advance by reading over any lecture slides (if they are available beforehand), the relevant book chapter from your core textbooks and any other preparatory material given. You are strongly recommended either to attend the lecture when it is delivered live, or watch it online via the VLE/The Hub as soon as it becomes available. You can watch recorded lectures as many times as you like.

During the lecture

You should listen to the presentation and make notes of the main points made by the lecturer. You will then be able to use these for your private study and group study sessions, and come back to them when you are revising. A good set of lecture notes will help you prepare for seminars (or other small group sessions) and for the assessment, including revision for examinations.

Seminars, workshops, small group sessions (SGS) and tutorials

These are generally interactive sessions where you can expect to discuss and explore a particular topic in depth with your fellow students and/or your tutor. In such sessions you may work in groups or teams to solve a problem or examine case studies. You may also be asked to present or discuss some aspect of a piece of work that you or your group has done. The exact nature of these sessions will vary depending on the subject you are studying and for some subjects they may not use all these types of sessions; for example, not all subjects have tutorials. In some courses, seminars tend to involve discussions on complex concepts, whereas tutorials are used to focus on the practical application of such principles. Generally all these types of sessions are associated with smaller groups of students, but the exact size of the group will vary from around 10 to 30 students.

How to prepare for other sessions

You need to prepare for these sessions in advance. Very often they involve a team effort and therefore, to ensure that everyone benefits from them and that you support your group or team, you must come to the session with the knowledge and understanding of the subject that will enable you to contribute. Read any material you are asked to look at, such as the facts of any case studies or scenarios, book chapters or journal articles and any other preparatory material you have been given, such as an online lecture. You may also find it useful to read through relevant lecture notes you have made and to formulate some views on the key points in the scenario.

Your classmates

BPP University is proud to have students and graduates from a variety of backgrounds and cultures. It is very likely that on your programme of study you will meet students with many different experiences and perspectives and we believe that this contributes to an incredibly rich learning environment. It also helps prepare our students for an increasingly global workplace. We encourage you to be respectful of and, indeed, embrace the diversity you find amongst your classmates and to view your peers as valuable connections and assets for your future career success.

During the session

You should take part in any activity and fully contribute to the discussions. When you express your ideas and points of view, it is good practice to back these up with reasons or evidence. You may be asked questions about your pre-reading by the tutor and you will be encouraged to ask your tutor questions about the discussion topic. You should support your fellow team members by doing what you can to help the overall team effort, for example, actively engaging in any role allocated to you and being prepared to justify and present aspects of your team's thoughts or findings if called upon to do so. To get the most out of these sessions, you should take notes of the key points covered in the session for future use, for example, in assessments.

The Inclusion Team provides guidance and support to students in relation to inclusion and diversity at BPP. Our Diversity groups facilitate opportunities for students to connect and provide each other with peer-to-peer support. Our inclusion work covers all aspects of the student experience, including learning and teaching, staff training, IT accessibility and other areas of inclusive practice.

Diversity Matters

Inclusion is about you as an individual. You have multiple roles and identities in everyday life in relation to your work, study, families and backgrounds. Who you are as a student is important to us and shapes our commitment as a university to your progress and achievement through supporting equality and diversity in the student experience.

In the UK, the Equality Act 2010 is legislation which provides a framework to protect individuals from unfair treatment and promotes a fair and more equal society.

Whilst studying at BPP University you will be exposed to values and beliefs which may be different from your own. Responding in a respectful way is a true sign of professionalism and demonstrates a maturity which will assist you in building a truly global perspective, required for any practising professional in our ever-shrinking world.

Our values ensure that we all learn through understanding and tolerance whilst maintaining the ability to challenge divisive or radical perspectives which may threaten tolerance or respect. Please be aware that BPP will respond to all claims of harassment and bullying including racially motivated or divisive language and communication. Please be mindful of your own unconscious biases and respect those around you.

Please contact us via the Query Form on the VLE/The Hub if you have any concerns.

Previous events include:

- Diversity in law and business

1. Provide students with the opportunity to express views and participate in continuous improvement of inclusive practice
2. Provide opportunities for students to participate in consultations in relation to developments and activities offered at the University
3. Provide support and peer group networks

Why not become a Diversity Ambassador?

We always want to hear your views. To make a general comment, join our groups, suggest a new group or find out more, please contact us via your Query Form on your VLE or The Hub.

Multifaith rooms

At BPP University, we are proud of the diversity of our students and we understand that for many, religious observance is part of their identity. We offer multifaith rooms at most of our main centres and facilities for religious observance. This can also be requested at other centres, such as booking a classroom, where available. Ensuring these spaces are as neutral as possible to accommodate a wide variety of faiths and personal beliefs is maintained through our conditions of use which are available in all our multifaith spaces.

If you have a cause for concern that the facilities are being used in breach of the above terms, please contact a member of the Inclusion Team via the Query Form on the VLE/The Hub.

For more information access the Inclusion and Learning Support section on the VLE/The Hub.

As a student studying at university, if you have English as a second language or if you are not familiar with higher education, you may need extra support in order to help you in your studies. This support can be in the form of:

- Pre-Sessional English courses
- In-Sessional English courses
- English Language Testing
- One-to-one support

As an international student studying at university, or if you are not familiar with higher education study, you may need extra support in order to help you in your studies. Our English Language Testing and Pre-Sessional English courses take place prior to you starting your main degree programme with us, but we also offer further support while you study.

Pre-Sessional and In-Sessional English courses

The Pre-Sessional and In-Sessional courses aim to develop students' academic English and academic skills needed for specific programmes in all Schools. They are designed to help you become more confident with your academic English expression and the skills you need for the assignments and exams you will have on your programme.

Pre-Sessional English courses are intensive courses to help you develop your English before you progress on to your main programme, and will be six or 12 weeks depending on your entry level of English. In-Sessional English courses usually run in the first term of study for certain programmes in the Schools.

English Language Testing

Testing services are available to assess a student's language profile to ensure they receive appropriate support to be successful in their studies.

One-to-one support

You If you have any questions about academic English and academic skills, or to book a one-to-one consultation please contact us via the Query Form on the VLE or The Hub. In the consultation, you and a tutor discuss a sample of your work. Your tutor will help you to:

- Structure your work more appropriately
- Write/speak more clearly and accurately
- Explain any areas of difficulty with language
- Help you to use sources appropriately and avoid plagiarism
- Explain how to improve your use of academic conventions

If you need English or academic skills support, or want to find out if you can join an English course, then please contact us via the Query Form on your VLE or The Hub.

Your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer.

As a student at BPP University, you will be assigned a personal tutor or Programme Support Officer at the start of your programme of study who will be your first point of contact for academic queries.

If you are a Solicitor or Paralegal apprentice, your first port of call will be your Apprenticeship Manager who will be able to help you.

Your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer is there to offer you advice, assistance and support with any academic and personal difficulties that may arise, ensuring that, where appropriate, any problems are made known to the relevant people at BPP University, and that you are referred to the relevant student support services to help you with any issues that may be affecting your academic progress.

Your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer will arrange to meet with you individually, during the first term, and will then remain in contact for the duration of your study with BPP University, in order to discuss your progress on the programme and any other issues which may arise.

If you are studying online or part-time and a face-to-face meeting may not be practical, your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer can arrange online or telephone meetings instead to suit you.

It is expected that as a student you will:

- Attend arranged meetings with your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer
- Contact your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer to inform them of any issue that may be affecting your academic progress

As a student, you are expected to take responsibility for both your performance on the programme and your personal life. However, should any difficulty arise, it is advisable to ask for help from your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer or another appropriate source as soon as possible, in order to resolve the issue at the earliest opportunity.

Routine matters should initially be referred informally to your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer. If you experience any problem which is affecting your studies, you should see your personal tutor or Programme Support Officer without delay.

Someone else may have experienced these difficulties before; therefore, there may already be a solution in place. Addressing matters promptly will aid their resolution.

Health and safety.

Your health, safety and wellbeing is our top priority. We ask that you contribute to a safe learning environment by:

- Taking reasonable care of yourself and others
- Respecting equipment and instruction provided for your health and safety
- Cooperating with guidance both issued by staff and available on the VLE/The Hub
- Reporting any accidents, incidents or other health and safety concerns to your personal tutor, the Reception Team or via the Query Form on the VLE/The Hub

Covid-19

Regular updates on the coronavirus pandemic will be posted on the following website: bpp.com

First aiders

Everyone in our Customer Services Team is a trained first aider. Please go to reception if you are injured, feel ill or see someone else who requires support.

Fire safety

We test our alarms each week. If you hear a short ring, you do not need to leave the building.

If you hear a continuous ring, you MUST calmly evacuate the building by the nearest exit and proceed to the assembly point. Follow the instruction of our fire marshals, who will be wearing high-viz jackets. Do not use the lifts and DO NOT re-enter the building while the alarm is sounding.

We run fire drills twice each year. These are important as they ensure everyone on site knows how to respond in an emergency – and can help us to identify areas where we can improve. You must treat every evacuation as a real emergency.

If you see a fire or smoke on site but the alarm is not sounding, it is your responsibility to raise the alarm. Do not try to put out the fire yourself.

If you have a disability, injury, are heavily pregnant or have any other condition that might mean you require support using stairs or exiting a building in an emergency, please speak to the Reception Team or contact us via the Query Form on the VLE/The Hub.

Security

Please always carry your Student ID card and be prepared to show it on request. Do not share security codes with others and be mindful of tailgaters when entering our buildings.

Smoking

BPP operates a strict no smoking policy.

If you have any further questions about health and safety at BPP, please speak to the Reception Team at your site or contact us via the Query Form on the VLE/The Hub.

Assessments.

Assessments are an important part of any learning experience and your assessments should be seen as an opportunity to showcase what you have learnt. Your programme is likely to have a range of different assessment methods, which might include exams, coursework, oral assessments, reports or dissertations, and you should consult your programme handbook to see the specific assessments for your programme. You will see assessments referred to as formative assessments (also known as practice or mock assessments); and summative assessments, which are the assessments which will count towards your final grades.

In every module you will have the opportunity to undertake a formative assessment. These are an important way in which you can test what you have learnt, ensure you are familiar with the mode of assessment and get feedback from your tutor on your performance and any areas for development. You should aim to complete as many of formative assessments as you can. Evidence shows that those who take up formative assessment opportunities often do better in their summative assessments.

Your Assessments

The dates of your assessments will be released to you on the VLE/The Hub at the beginning of each module in your programme.

For some assessments (e.g. coursework, reports and dissertations) you will be given a number of days (for instance one-two weeks) to complete and submit the work. You should make sure you know the submission dates and manage your time to ensure that you have sufficient time to research and write your answer. Bear in mind that you may have more than one piece of work to submit within the same timeframe and/or other assessments. These types of assessment will normally be submitted via the VLE/The Hub and through Turnitin.

Other assessments (e.g. exams or oral assessments) may be timed and these will require you to be available at a specific time. You should make sure you note these in your diary and give yourself enough time before and after to mentally prepare and relax. In the weeks leading up to your timed assessment you should make sure you have given yourself enough time to review your material, consolidate your learning and revise. Creating a personal timetable will help to structure your assessment period, but don't forget to put in plenty of breaks. Most timed assessments will be undertaken online.

You should check the VLE/The Hub for details of the computer specification you need to access any online assessments and run a practice test at least a few days before to make sure that you have no technical issues. We will guide you through this process, especially when it's your first time. For all assessments you should make sure that you find a quiet place where you will not be interrupted and where you can sit and work comfortably, possibly for three-four hours at a time. For some assessments, BPP will use an 'e-proctoring' software. This software will monitor your computer and your environment to ensure you comply with the assessment rules. Detailed guidance will be available for this on the VLE/The Hub, and you should take particular note of the guidance on the physical environment prior to the assessment.

Some assessments may be run face to face in a physical location (e.g. practical assessments or oral assessments). If you have an assessment in a physical location, you will be provided with the details of the assessment on the VLE/The Hub at least two weeks before the assessment. You should make sure you map out the route to the venue and give yourself enough time to account for any transport delays. Aiming to arrive approximately one hour before the scheduled start time is recommended.

Learning Support

If you have a special education need or disability, you should contact BPP's Learning Support Service (learningsupport@bpp.com) by emailing at least four weeks prior to your assessment, and ideally at the start of your programme. This specialist team will work with you individually to ensure that the assessment is accessible to you and to arrange any adjustments which are needed.

Further Support

If you have any questions about your assessment you should consult the VLE/The Hub in the first instance where you will find the answer to most questions. If the answer is not there, your programme team or the Exams Team are available to support you via the Query Form.

Prevent Duty

Section 26 (1) of the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015 imposes a duty upon universities as 'specified authorities' to have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism. This is known as the Prevent Duty.

The Prevent Duty is part of the government's overall counter-terrorism strategy and seeks to reduce the threat to the UK of terrorism by stopping people from becoming terrorists and/or from supporting terrorism. The government has identified universities as institutions where there are risks from extremist groups or organisations of radicalisation.

The government has defined extremism in the Prevent strategy as: "vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. We also include in our definition of extremism calls for the death of members of our armed forces".

The Prevent Duty further encompasses the commitment of universities to academic freedom and the freedom of speech. Universities exist to promote the advancement of knowledge and the exploration of diverse perspectives. In that regard, there must exist opportunities to challenge and question extreme views and ideologies. The University will monitor the use of its premises and resources to ensure that they are not used to promote radicalisation, insurrection, incitement to riot, hatred or violence towards a section of society.

Student Protection Plan

The Student Protection Plan is a document that is approved by the Office for Students (OfS) that every university is required to have. It sets out what measures we have in place to protect you, as a student at BPP University, should a risk to the continuation of your studies arise and details how we would communicate with you about this. The Student Protection Plan is available to view on: bpp.com

Student Transfer Plan

The Student Transfer Plan is a document that is approved by the Office for Students (OfS) that every university is required to have. It sets out the procedures in place for students transferring to, or from, a programme offered by BPP University. The Student Transfer Plan is available to view on: bpp.com

Complaints and appeals.

At BPP University, we are committed to acting in the best interests of our students while abiding by principles of fairness and integrity in all matters.

Complaints and appeals are important to the University because we recognise that although we aim to provide a high-quality service, no system is error-proof. We rely on our members (students and staff) to help us identify potential errors and correct them. The General Academic Regulations make provision for appeals against University decisions to ensure that students are treated fairly and reasonably. We make every effort to hear and determine all applications from students as expeditiously and as reasonably as possible, having regard to the circumstances of each individual case and the requirements of natural justice.

The University operates a framework of appeals and complaints.

An appeal is a written request by a student for the reconsideration of a determination made by an officer, board, committee or panel of the University in relation to their status, progression or achievement as a student.

A complaint is the notification by a student to the University of their dissatisfaction with an aspect of service or treatment that they have received from the University. A complaint should usually include an indication as to what resolution is being sought.

The University's complaints and appeals processes are built on the following key principles:

- Fair, reasonable and independent decision-making;
- A multi-stage, centrally administered process which ensures confidential, consistent, proportionate, independent and due consideration of each case by appropriately appointed officers and panels. Both processes involve initial consideration, formal consideration, as well as internal and external mechanisms of independent review;
- No student would be disadvantaged, discriminated against or in any way penalised for initiating a complaint or appeal.

The Office of Regulation and Compliance (ORC) centrally administers appeals and complaints. External independent review is available through the UK's Office of the Independent Adjudicator (OIA). The effectiveness of the complaints and appeals processes are monitored annually.

The Office of the Independent Adjudicator

Where the student is dissatisfied with the decision of the University, he or she may refer their complaint to the OIA, within 12 months of BPP University issuing a Completion of Procedure letter. The OIA is an independent body established by government to run an independent student complaints scheme for universities in England and Wales. For more information about the OIA and the procedure for submitting a complaint, students can visit the OIA website at: oiahe.org.uk

Detailed information can be found in the GARs and MoPPs available on the VLE/The Hub and at bppstudents.com
