What the Industry says about Salford College

The Memorial Hospital

"I have been dealing with Salford College for some time in the course of training my staff in Certificate III in Hospitality (Commercial Cookery), Certificate IV Frontline Management and Diploma of Management.

I have found Salford college staff courteous, professional and accommodating with both my staff and me.

The qualifications obtained have made a difference to my staff's performance and outlook."

Simon Currie, Executive Chef

Extra News Agency

"I would like to commend the service provided by Salford College. The staff is courteous, professional and accommodating in the provision of their services. I definitely recommend both the course and the college!"

Joseph Tsoleridis

"To me, a good buffet should be 'orderly' and 'predictable'-it would consist of popular dishes that most people will recognize instantly and be first to put on their plate straightaway; and at the same time it should also have elements of surprises (offering something new, something different that people might want to try). I think the students presented their buffet very well by incorporating garnishes, decorated ornaments wherever possible to complement the curry dishes that may look dull on their own. The colourful spread of desserts was absolutely splendid. The buffet layout prepared by Salford students is what I would describe as a wonderfully 'seamless transition' feast from entrees/salads to main courses, followed by mouth-watering desserts-well done!"

Hon. Jing Lee, MLC of South Australia

QR National

"Over the past 12 months QR National Adelaide has started to use Salford College for all of our training requirements for our staff.

The reason why I started to use Salford College for my training requirements was that, they are flexible to work with and minimized operational interruptions to my business.

Through using Salford College I have found the staff to be courteous, professional and most definitely understanding my business needs, my staff's needs and all of the business requirements."

Robert Phillips, Branch Manager, South Australia

"Salford College staff are professional and accommodating. The training has made a huge difference in how my staff see the business...and yes I would recommend them."

Eamonn Vereker Glass
